Mastering the art of survival whilst left to your own devices amidst nature - doesn't that sound exciting? Well, it is! Right at the beginning of this adventure you are sent on an orientation march in small groups. Having arrived at your destination, the next challenge awaits: building a shelter from natural materials, for which the ranger has a few tricks up his sleeve. Once accomplished it's time to make a fire to grill the trout – which you caught with your self-made hunting weapon, of course. You'll find yourself chatting and laughing as you sit around the warming fire and eat together. The combination of nature and shared experience connects, creating Sunshine Moments. This day of adventure takes you one step closer to Mother Earth.
